

Happy Holidays! There are so many new software and gaming titles being released for the holiday season that they have overflowed our newsletter. You can find all the new titles on our website, and if you'd like a spreadsheet of new titles to be sent your way, please contact us.

Over the past several months, I've had a number of conversations regarding the requirements for labeling circulating software and gaming titles to be in accordance with U.S. copyright law. The requirements are clear, and fairly easy to follow. It's all in the labeling. Please see our usual "Teacher's Corner" (sorry teachers) for detailed information to make sure that your library is in compliance.

I hope to see many of you at ALA Midwinter. This year, it's Boston in January. The upside is that it's not too far from my home in Mystic, Connecticut. So maybe that's only an upside for me. The downside is that we won't be enjoying any balmy breezes. We'll have to wait for the annual meeting in Washington, DC, where — I suspect — there will be no shortage of heat in late June. At Midwinter, we'll have the newest winter supplement to hand out, a chance to win some great prizes, and your opportunity to take me on in Wii bowling. Yep, it's all happening in Booth 1355 at ALA Midwinter in Boston!

All of us at Thomas Klise/Crimson Multimedia want to wish you and your families all the best during this holiday season. It's been a wonderful year for us, and we appreciate each and every one of our customers.

Happy Holidays! Happy New Year!

TEACHER'S CORNER

I'm taking over our usual "Teachers Corner" this month to review the copyright labeling laws that are required by public libraries. Several of you have asked about them, so I thought others might also be curious. The law that is pertinent to public libraries is US Copyright law paragraph (b)(2)(A) of section 109 of the Copyright Act, title 17 of the United States Code, as amended by the Computer Software Rental Amendments Act of 1990, Public Law 101-650 which authorizes nonprofit libraries to lend, lease, or rent copies of computer programs to patrons on a nonprofit basis and for nonprofit purposes. Under this law, libraries are required to label all software -- and probably gaming titles, although this hasn't been specified as of today -- in a very specific way.

Each circulating item needs to be labeled with the following:

Notice: Warning of Copyright Restrictions

The copyright law of the United States (title 17, United States Code) governs the reproduction, distribution, adaptation, public performance, and public display of copyrighted material.

Under certain conditions specified in law, nonprofit libraries are authorized to lend, lease, or rent copies of computer programs to patrons on a nonprofit basis and for nonprofit purposes. Any person who makes an unauthorized copy or adaptation of the computer program, or redistributes the loan copy, or publicly performs or displays the computer program, except as permitted by title 17 of the United States Code, may be liable for copyright infringement.

This institution reserves the right to refuse to fulfill a loan request if, in its judgement, fulfillment of the request would lead to violation of the copyright law.

For our library processing customers, this notice already appears on your items automatically if you have included it in your preferences. You are currently in compliance with the copyright law. If you haven't reviewed your profile in a few years and you haven't added this statement, please contact us so that we can modify your preferences and make the necessary changes. For libraries that do their own processing, this statement should be placed on the packaging, "in such manner as to be clearly legible, comprehensible, and readily apparent to a casual user of the computer program". Of course, we can provide custom packaging for your existing collection to ensure that you are in compliance with this law. Please contact Kristin in our processing department for more information.
