

It's hard to believe that a month has flown by since the last newsletter. But based on the number of new titles that have been released over the past four weeks, it seems that publishers are not slowing down!

In addition to the list of new cd-rom and gaming titles we have in stock, we are also adding lots of new audiobooks to our warehouse shelves. Many of you are standing order customers, receiving a fresh collection of rental-ready audiobooks each month. If you are not, and would like information on our standing audiobook program, please go to <http://www.crimsoninc.com/audio.php>. If you prefer to purchase audiobooks individually, we are now offering newly-released titles for purchase individually. Each title is packaged in a sturdy rental-ready case, and there is no minimum purchase required. If you're looking to beef up your audiobook offerings in anticipation of summer, you can take advantage of our discounted pricing. Visit our site for a list of titles. <http://www.crimsoninc.com/currentnews.php>

We are very busy getting ready for ALA. If you are planning to attend the conference in Washington, DC, we would be delighted to see you in booth 3442. I will -- again -- be hitting that virtual tennis ball. Please join me.
